ENGRAVER'S DEPARTMENT,

22nd November, 1884.

Sir

I respectfully ask that the title of the five men in my department who are now classified as machinists be changed, as no one of them is doing the work of a machinist, and no machinist, let him be ever so skillful as a machinist can do the work they are employed on, it being distinctively the work of a Mint, i.e. preparing dies for coinage. I therefore respectfully suggest that they be called die makers as it would better designate the specialty they are employed at

I am very respectfully
Your obedient servant
